Personal comprehensive holiday insurance

We strongly recommend that you take out travel insurance covering Personal Accident, Emergency Medical and Associated Expenses, Cancellation Charges and Personal Liability.

European Health Insurance card (EHIC)

The former E111, which entitles you to national health assistance while abroad, is now available in the form of a plastic card, the EHIC. Visit the www.nhs.uk website and search for EHIC for information on how to apply – don't leave it until the last minute and you must have it before you leave for France! Please note that the earlier E111 forms are no longer valid. Note also that EHIC is not a substitute for personal, comprehensive holiday insurance and will not cover any private medical healthcare costs. If we leave the EU you will need to check if your E111 will still be valid and if not you will need comprehensive medical insurance on your travel insurance.
